Doctoral INPHINIT Fellowships at research centres of excellence of Spain and Portugal

2027 Call for applications

Incoming

Introduction

The "la Caixa" Foundation, which firmly believes that scientific progress, research, mobility and professional qualification are key to the development of society, is launching a fellowships programme for early stage researchers of any nationality to carry out a doctorate in the fields of health and life sciences, technology, physics, chemistry, engineering and mathematics in Spain or Portugal at accredited institutions with the Severo Ochoa or María de Maeztu distinction of excellence, Institutes of Health Research accredited by the Carlos III Health Institute, and units considered to be excellent by the Foundation for Science and Technology in Portugal.

The programme aims to promote scientific excellence while providing fellows with a comprehensive research and training environment that supports their scientific, professional and personal development. In addition to their doctoral research, fellows have access to training in transversal skills, international mobility opportunities and exposure to different research and innovation environments.

The programme is designed to support the development of a new generation of researchers equipped to contribute to scientific progress and to address societal challenges through excellent, responsible and impactful research.

The programme promotes excellence-based and transparent evaluation, equal treatment of applicants, interdisciplinary approaches, international mobility, Open Science, research ethics and integrity, and the development of transferable skills, in line with current European principles for research and researcher development.

1. Call for applications

1.1. The "la Caixa" Foundation is offering 30 fellowships to take up official doctoral studies at accredited host organisations with the Severo Ochoa or María de Maeztu distinction of excellence, Institutes of Health Research accredited by the Carlos III Health Institute, and units considered to be excellent by the Foundation for Science and Technology in Portugal.

1.2. The call for applications is intended for the pursuit of a doctoral degree in the fields of technology, engineering, physics, chemistry, mathematics, life and health sciences. Applicants must meet the admission requirements for a doctoral programme, fulfil the mobility criteria detailed in section 4.5, and not have previously begun any doctoral studies.

1.3. The fellowship is made effective when the selected candidates and the host institutions reach an agreement regarding their recruitment. Once an agreement has been reached, the host organisation will hire the fellow using the funds provided by the "la Caixa" Foundation. The host organisation must always hold the excellence accreditation at the time the fellow's contract begins.

1.4. Fellows should start at the host institutions between September and November 2027. Nevertheless, in duly justified cases, the "la Caixa" Foundation may allow this to be delayed until 31 January 2028.

1.5. The fellowship will have a duration of up to four years. Each year, the fellow must submit progress reports to verify their performance. The "la Caixa" Foundation reserves the right to cancel the fellowship if performance is deemed insufficient.

1.6. The call for applications opens on the date it is published and closes on January 12 2027 at 14:00:00 (mainland Spain time).

2. Fellowship amount

2.1. The "la Caixa" Foundation will sign an agreement with the host institution, which will receive the fellowship payments directly. This amount must be wholly allocated to cover the fellow's costs as broken down below:

/ €35,800 per year to cover the fellow's labour costs. This amount includes the Social Security cost and any other compulsory fee or compensation, whether current or that may be provided for in a future legal framework, that are linked to the fellow's labour contract, as well as the fellow's annual gross salary.

In any case, the minimum annual gross salary to be offered to the fellow by the host institution must be €25,000. If the total labour costs exceed the maximum amount offered by the "la Caixa" Foundation, the host institution will cover the excess.

In the case of being recruited by a Portuguese host institution, the economic conditions will be the same as those described above, regardless of the type of relationship established between the fellow and the host institution (employment contract or fellowship contract), in accordance with the current Portuguese legislation.

/ €3,500 per year for research costs such as conferences, courses, research stays, consumables, equipment, charges for the use of intellectual property, etc. This amount will be managed by the host institution for the benefit of the fellow and must be justified separately.

/ The tuition fees to the official doctoral programme where the fellow will be admitted to.

/ Special needs allowance of up to €4,000 to cover expenses related to assistive products or technologies and/or transport or travel assistance for the duration of the fellowship. This allowance is available to fellows with a certified disability officially recognised by the relevant national authority or authorities, provided that their disability entails the need for specific adaptations or support to enable them to carry out their research activities. When requesting the special needs allowance, the host institution must confirm both the official recognition of the disability and the need for such adaptations or support. The allowance is subject to verification and approval by the "la Caixa" Foundation and may only cover costs that are not funded by the host institution or through any other specific fellowships.

2.2. The contractual relationship between the fellow and the host institution must comply at any time with the provisions of the host country's current legislation. In any case, the start date of the contract must coincide with the start date of the fellowship.

3. Complementary training

In addition to financial support, the fellowship includes a mixed training programme (face-to-face and online) on transversal skills, which has been specially designed by leading international institutions in the sector.

This programme includes aspects such as technology transfer, entrepreneurship, commercialisation of innovation, intellectual property, leadership, creativity, communication skills, teamwork, personal development, planning, assertiveness and networking.

Three sessions will be held over the duration of the fellowship. Each session will last between 3 and 5 days, and attendance is mandatory for all fellows. The "la Caixa" Foundation will cover all costs for these sessions, as well as the fellows' accommodation and travel expenses.

The training programme, valued at approximately €7,500 per fellow, constitutes a core element of the fellowship and provides structured opportunities for skills development, career preparation and exposure to diverse research and innovation environments.

4. Requirements for applicants

4.1. Nationality
Early-stage researchers of any nationality are eligible to apply for the Doctoral INPhINIT Incoming Fellowships Programme.

4.2. Studies pursued
Applicants must hold a higher education degree that makes them eligible to enrol in a doctoral programme before starting at their host institutions.

The host university will verify, upon starting the admission process to the doctoral programme, that the studies taken up by the selected candidates make them eligible to enrol in an official doctoral programme in accordance with the regulations in force in Spain or Portugal. Should they be found not eligible after verification, the fellowship will be withdrawn.

Candidates must not have been enrolled in a doctoral programme prior to the start of the fellowship.

4.3. Language proficiency
Applicants must accredit their proficiency in the English language by submitting any of the certificates mentioned below. Under no circumstances will any other certificate be accepted, despite being issued by the same organisations and/or accredit equivalence with any of the accepted levels.

Candidates who are nationals of any of the countries listed below, as well as applicants who have pursued their bachelor's studies (minimum of 3 years on a full-time basis) or postgraduate studies (minimum of 2 years on a full-time basis) in person at any of these countries are exempt from submitting the English language proficiency certificate:

Applicants who submit transcripts of academic records from Canada do not need to submit the English language proficiency certificate provided that their transcript of academic records shows that English was the language of instruction.*

4.4. Research experience

On the deadline for applications, applicants must still be within the first four years (full-time equivalent research experience) of their research careers.

4.5. Mobility

Candidates cannot have resided or carried out their main activity (work, studies, etc.) in the country of destination (Spain/Portugal) for more than twelve months in the three years immediately prior to the deadline for applications.

Short stays, such as holidays, spent in a country other than their country of usual residence (where they carried out their main activity), will be considered as time spent in their country of usual residence.

5. Application and documentation

5.1. Candidates must apply using the online application platform available in the "Fellowships" section on the "la Caixa" Foundation website.

On this platform, the different sections of the application form clearly specify all information and documentation that must be provided to complete an application to this fellowships programme.

The application must be completed entirely in English.

5.2. Candidates must indicate their prospective doctoral studies in the "Studies to be pursued" section of the online application form. They will not be required to provide a confirmation of admission or an endorsement from the director of the doctoral programme indicated beforehand.

This information will be understood to be provisional and strict abidance to it is not implied, which means that during the selection process for the fellowship, candidates may continue exploring other alternatives that may better suit their personal goals.

5.3. Using the application platform, candidates must complete the formalities to obtain, prior to the deadline for applications, at least three reference letters from university professors or other relevant individuals with whom they have had contact either academically or professionally. It is advisable for candidates to contact them as soon as possible to let them know that the "la Caixa" Foundation will get in touch with them through an online procedure. This procedure makes it possible to request and attach up to five reference letters to the application form, provided that they arrive before the deadline for applications (January 12, 2027, at 14:00:00h, mainland Spain time).

The reference letters must be written in English and preferably sent from an institutional e-mail address.

These reference letters are confidential. Under no circumstances will the "la Caixa" Foundation provide access to their content, regardless of the final outcome of the selection process for this fellowships programme.

5.4. Academic records

Candidates must include the transcripts of academic records for the studies that make them eligible for a doctoral programme (bachelor's degree compulsorily, and master's degree, if applicable), preferably in the Diploma Supplement format. In any case, the student's name and surname(s), the university, the studies pursued, and all subjects and marks, year by year, must appear.

Note that if these studies have been completed by the deadline for applications, the credits awarded and the total number of credits for the degree must also appear. If these studies are still in progress, candidates must submit the transcript of records in its current status upon submission of the application.

Candidates may optionally include information about other degrees they hold (bachelor's, master's, etc.). Transcripts for these degrees must be submitted with the application.

5.5. Documents uploaded to the application platform in PDF format must be clear and legible. Similarly, each page of the original document must correspond to a page in the PDF document.

5.6. If the documents uploaded to the application platform were issued in a language other than English, a translation into English, which can be done by the candidate, must be attached.

5.7. The application platform makes it possible to submit the application even though it does not include accreditation of the English proficiency level by the deadline for applications (January 12 2027 at 14:00:00h, mainland Spain time). In this case, the applicant should likewise finalise and submit the application before the established deadline, but they have until January 22 2027 at 23:59:59h (mainland Spain time) to submit the accreditation, which must be appended to their application in PDF format, directly through the application platform.

6. Selection process

The evaluation and selection of applications will be carried out on a competitive basis described on the selection process guidelines available in the fellowships programme website. The members of the shortlisting and selection committees choose the best candidates according to the evaluation criteria.

6.1. The process is comprised of three parts:

a. Eligibility screening: all applications received are screened and applications that do not fulfil the criteria published in the call for applications rules are rejected.

Should an application not fulfil the formal requirements of the call for applications, the "la Caixa" Foundation will send a notification by e-mail specifying the reason for its rejection.

b. Shortlisting: each of the eligible applications is sent to a remote evaluation panel made up of two or three professors or researchers with broad experience in the discipline of the application and an extensive list of publications and/or contributions within this field. The applications that receive the highest scores from each panel will pass to the next stage.

The "la Caixa" Foundation will notify candidates whether they have been shortlisted or not by e-mail on April 9, 2027.

Shortlisted applicants are encouraged to reach out to the host organisations they are interested in if they haven't already done so.

c. Interviews: candidates whose applications have passed the shortlisting stage will be called in for an interview before a multidisciplinary committee comprised of professors and researchers with extensive experience in selection processes by peer review.

The interviews will be held remotely on April 27, 28 and 29 2027.

They will be conducted entirely in English.

On the day of the interview, each candidate must show their original ID or passport. Otherwise, they will be rejected.

The "la Caixa" Foundation will notify interviewed candidates of the outcome of the process by e-mail on May 13 2027.

The dates scheduled for the selection interviews or for the notification of the results may vary due to organisational reasons. In case this occurs, candidates will be immediately notified by e-mail.

6.2. The evaluation criteria that govern the selection process can be found in the "Selection process" section of this fellowships programme website.

7. Appeal Procedure

7.1. Within 3 calendar days from the date the rejection notification is sent, candidates may submit an appeal by sending an e-mail to fellowships@contact.fundaciolacaixa.org, which must include an explanatory text together with the documents that the candidate deems appropriate.

7.2. Appeals will be resolved by an appeal committee. Resolutions will be sent by e-mail within 10 calendar days from the date of receipt of the appeal.

7.3. The appeal procedure is strictly confidential.

7.4. The appeals procedure will look at procedural shortcomings and possible errors, not at the evaluation panel's decisions or the experts' ratings and comments. The selection and evaluation processes themselves ensure the independence and the objectivity of the evaluation.

8. Resolution of the call

8.1. The final list of candidates chosen as fellows, as well as the candidates on the reserve list, when applicable, will be published with their names and surnames on the "la Caixa" Foundation website on May 13 2027.

8.4. To be admitted as a fellow, the candidate must start at the host organisation no later than November 30 2027. In duly justified cases authorised by the "la Caixa" Foundation, this can be delayed until January 31 2028, at the latest. Once this date has passed, the fellowship may no longer be availed of.

9.7. Candidates unable to attend the final interview must notify the "la Caixa" Foundation at least three working days in advance to the first day of the interviews to allow their slot to be reassigned. 9.8. Under no circumstances may applicants contact the experts who are taking part or have taken part in the selection processes of this call for applications to ask them for information regarding the status of their application or any other aspect related to the selection process. Should this occur, the candidate will be disqualified from this and future selection processes.
